

Eshaan Murali

Hello, I am Eshaan, a computer science student at CU Boulder. I am extremely interested in computer science and enjoy doing programming projects and learning many programming languages. So far I have taken multiple CS courses and have learned how to code in Python, Java, C, and C++.

Things other than programming that I enjoy are math and sports. I am a huge fan of analytics and looking at sports statistics, especially for sports such as basketball and football. I am interested in combining all my interests by using data science in order to create statistics and analytics to understand the details of sports.

Future:

In the future, I want to work in the field of Artificial Intelligence. I hope to be able to use AI to create advancements in software development
